LWV IL Criminal Justice Consensus Study Update

After 3 years of work, the criminal justice study group is finishing up study materials for a criminal justice position update. The current criminal justice position was last updated in 1995 - 25 years ago! A lot of research in criminal justice has happened in those years and without updating our current position the LWWIL is unable to take action on many of the issues currently being debated.

Some materials were shared at the recent Issues Briefing and are also available to those who join the Criminal Justice Google Group. (To join, contact Morgan Lyn mlyn@lwvil.org at the LWWIL office.)

More materials will be coming out soon, including a Speakers Bureau, a list of videos, articles, books, and other resources. One advantage of the COVID-19 situation is that for zoom gatherings, travel for our speakers is not a problem!

Next steps--Each local League:

- forms its own team to read and discuss the materials. Joining with other local Leagues shares the work. Their task is to prepare a presentation so that local League members at the consensus meetings are acquainted with essential information.
- may want to offer a program with the help of the Speakers Bureau.
- will hold consensus meetings in January, 2021. If the study group has involved two or more local Leagues, their presentation may be made once for all those Leagues involved. The audience after the presentation divides into their own Leagues and each conducts its own consensus.

Consensus forms are due to the LWVIL office by January 31, 2021. The results will inform the new, updated Criminal Justice Position.

The United States incarcerates more people than any other country. Punitive policies have caused great harm to families and communities and have cost billions of dollars without really improving public safety.

Need help? Have questions? Contact the LWVIL criminal justice study group at issues@lwvil.org and in the subject line "FOR CJ UPDATE."
